The TREND E series is characterised by its elegant and modern design as well as its reduced weight thanks to the use of high-quality plastic. Even though it is structured like a common household tap, the TREND E series with ceramic cartridge is considerably lighter. The massive brass lever and the lightweight plastic body of the tap complement each other perfectly. When necessary, the ceramic cartridge can be exchanged without removing the tap. Temperature and water flow can be precision controlled. The TREND E series can be used in connection with a submersible pump or a pressure pump. The switch is completely water-proof (IP67). Switching capacity: 4 A; 150 mm plastic spout.
