The Cerbo GX MK2 is the advanced version of the well-known Cerbo GX and serves as the central control unit for your entire energy system. All important Victron components – inverters, chargers, solar charge controllers and batteries – come together here and are optimally coordinated. This ensures that your system operates reliably and efficiently in daily use.

You can keep an eye on your system at all times: worldwide via the VRM portal and an internet connection, or locally via the VictronConnect app using Bluetooth. The proven Venus OS runs on the Cerbo GX MK2, providing a clear overview and straightforward operation.
